Venue Exclusivity Arrangements

Should you wish to sell any products or services which require Venue Exclusivity, we will do our part in honoring the relationship you have with your supplier- but will not be held responsible for unintentional or intentional violations of your contract with them. For your convenience, we will post and update a list of brands already scheduled by their vendors to be made available for sale during the health expo. It is your responsibility to review the list and determine if you are in compliance with your distributor/manufacturer team prior to your registration. We are not responsible for errors and/or omission to the list we offer.
